Preparation Tips

Tip 1 :Make your basics strong don't run after new technologies as a fresher companies wants your good command on DSA

Tip 2: Focus more on competitive programming to get into a good organization don't indulge to much in development because the first step to reach to the interview round is to clear the coding round, as well as in DSA rounds they ask coding question only.

Tip 3: Do atleast 2-3 Questions per day and practice daily leetcode challenge

Tip 4: Also practice basic aptitude questions

Tip 5: Be prepared by doing various standard questions of common topics, they can ask.

How did you apply?

Where did you apply?
On Campus

Any eligibility criteria?

No eligibility criteria

Resume Tips
Tip 1:Don't mention things in the resume that you don't have full command on you should have complete knowledge of what you mention in your resume

Tip 2:Make your resume short and if you mention projects in your resume be clear about the details of the project even if you have done that in group because the interviewer will surely ask from it.

Why do you think you were shortlisted?

I give the approach of every coding question asked to me in optimal complexity. I was interactive with the interviewer even if I think my approach is wrong as it is must in online interviews.I explained the approach and concepts and then after writing pseudocodes I did dry run on it.
